

For immediate release March 12, 2020

Good evening Madison families,

As you know, district leadership has been working closely with local officials and health professionals to monitor the COVID-19 virus.

Information out of Governor Holcomb's office earlier this evening outlines the steps the state is taking to further reduce exposure amid 12 confirmed cases in other parts of the state. While there are currently no confirmed cases in Jefferson County, we are preparing for what may come in the next few days and weeks.

Madison Consolidated Schools will be in session tomorrow, Friday, March 13. If you feel as though it is not safe for your student to attend class, please notify your child's school. This will be an excused medical absence.

There is a meeting scheduled tomorrow morning with community leaders to determine the best course of action for our schools. We will update you with any information as we have it available. Thank you for your patience and assistance as we work to keep students and staff healthy.
